

COL. JAMES MANN ATTACKS GREEN

Resents Charges Made By Green Against His Law Firm.

CITY ATTORNEY STOPS FIGHT

One Hundred and Fifty Italians at Work on Jamestown Grounds.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RICHMOND, VA., July 26.—N. T. Green, recently of Danville, candidate for State Senate, made a speech last night in the Sixth Ward to a small audience of his friends. Mr. Green's speech was not only directed against Senator W. W. Hale, his opponent, but against the firm of attorneys, Mann, Hale and Tyler, to which Colonel Hale belongs. He made charges against them individually and collectively in connection with the Jamestown Exposition bill before the Legislature.

Colonel James Mann, a member of the firm, went to the office of Mr. Green this morning, and after declaring that Mr. Green's speech was personally insulting to him and to his firm, slapped Mr. Green in the face, and then there was a fight, which was stopped by the interference of Mr. Richard McIlwaine, city attorney, and others. Then Mr. Green drew a knife, or a paper cutter and ordered Colonel Mann out of the office.

The news of the fight created a sensation on the streets, and immediately there was an alignment of the old factions, for Mr. Green has avowed his adherence to the defeated and discredited "good government" faction. The weakness of his case is that the acts to which he refers had not been mentioned until he became a candidate for office.

NO ARRESTS.

Mr. Green says that he was not arrested as the result of the fight, despite the fact that Colonel Mann invaded his office with a revolver, and that he was not arrested as the result of the fight, despite the fact that Colonel Mann invaded his office with a revolver, and that he was not arrested as the result of the fight, despite the fact that Colonel Mann invaded his office with a revolver.

Referring to the fight to-day between his partner, Colonel James Mann, and N. T. Green, his opponent for the State Senate, Senator W. W. Hale said: "I wish now to say that I had no interest in any kind whatever, direct or indirect, was entitled to no part, received no part, and will receive no part of the fee earned by Colonel Mann and Major Tyler in the Jamestown Exposition matter, or in any other matter pending before the General Assembly."

Mr. Green was offered a full opportunity to investigate this matter before he made his charges, but refused to avail himself of it. His charge was a gratuitous, malicious and false accusation against my associates and myself."

MURDER ON EXCURSION BOAT.

James Kitchen, the negro who shot and killed Clarence Wright and seriously wounded William Wright, on the steamer Endeavor last night, was this morning held by Mayor Heed, of Portsmouth, for the United States authorities, the crimes having been committed in Hampton Roads while the steamer was returning from Smithfield to Portsmouth with a colored excursion. Kitchen was arrested by Officer Porter on the arrival of the steamer at the Gosport docks and committed to jail. The body of Clarence Wright was delivered to the undertakers to await an inquest. William Wright, a brother of the dead man, was sent to his home, where he received attention.

HEAVY DAMAGES AWARDED.

C. O. Foreman, of Portsmouth, who was run over by a street car and lost a leg several months ago, obtained a verdict of $8,000 in his suit against the Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News Company in the County Court. The jury awarded damages for the company, made a motion to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial, and Judge Crocker will hear argument.

BUSY SCENE AT EXPOSITION.

Superintendent James H. Hanley-Curry Company has 150 Italian laborers at work on the water and sewer construction of the Jamestown Exposition site. Contractor Mundy, of Newport News, put a force of men at work to-day on the grading and road-making. The Norfolk and Atlantic Coast Line Company has built and placed on the main line to the Exposition grounds, and already twenty cars loaded with building material have been switched into the enclosure. There is still a stretch of track to be completed. The contractor is using the broom straw on the grounds for joining the pipes. The shape, long, superb vistas have been prepared by a clever manipulation of the trees. Every permanent avenue on the grounds has been opened. The shrubbery tract has been opened. The shrubbery tract has been opened. The shrubbery tract has been opened.

RICHMOND NEGROES LAND IN CHAIN GANG

End Up Excursion to West Point
With Ball and Chain
Accompiment.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WEST POINT, VA., July 26.—Monday the record was broken in West Point for good order among excursionists. For the past few weeks Monday has been the day set apart for colored excursions. They have their grounds in the upper part of the town and are only seen and heard as they ride up and down through the town and occasionally a number or two is given by the land in its passage to and from the train. On the occasion referred to there was a regular Bedlam. Eight were arrested for drunkenness and disorder. One man was arrested for kissing his best girl on the street.

The excursion was from Church Hill and "Rockers," Richmond. Six lodged in jail last night, and this morning went to work on the street under guard with ball and chain accompaniment.

Colonel John Harwood and wife came on the twilight excursion Monday and entertained a party of ten at "The Beach." Colonel Harwood and lady have entertained their friends at Beach Park this season.

Banks, received to-day from Dr. John Boggess, who is in charge of the United States marine hospital quarantine service for the Chesapeake District, a dispatch advising him that he should not permit any vessel sailing from New Orleans to enter at the custom house here unless her master first presents a certificate from him showing that she has remained in quarantine at Old Point the five days required by the regulations of the service.

GOVERNOR SPEAKS IN WARRENTON

General Eppa Hinton Escorts
Him On the Platform.

INTRODUCED BY COL. SMITH

Paid a Glowing Tribute to the Hero of Balls
Bluff.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WARRENTON, VA., July 26.—Governor Montague spoke here to-day to a good sized audience. He entered the hall with General Eppa Hinton, whose improved condition of health permitted him to be present; also upon the rostrum was the distinguished guest, Senator Camden, of West Virginia, and Colonel Thomas Smith, of Warrenton, who later introduced the State's chief magistrate in glowing and eloquent terms.

Montague quickly and forcefully expounded his policy. His courteous but biting arraignment of Martin and his own well-directed defense of himself showed to best advantage his man's intrepidity and aptitude for retort.

"The Governor, during the course of his speech, said he believed in 'equal rights' for all and special privileges for none. 'Should I ever be elected, nobody will have a cord about my foot or string around my neck. I have no man's collar, and never will wear it.'"

Although he did not specialize, the newspapers came in for a brief attack, he declaring that they "touched a wire here and there" and greatly distorted the true facts.

Continuing his speech he said "the election of senators by the legislature has proved a failure; they think they elect but they don't. At this point he upheld the primary system vigorously. Speaking of graft, he said: 'I used to think I knew what graft was when my father used to take a grape vine, spill it, and carefully strap another piece to the dismembered part.' In making this personal warfare above the public well-known to show how officials nowadays dig a harbor or building a position."

"Referring to the negro, he said the colored man had not hurt us so much in Virginia as the colored man. In casting your vote, said the governor, in a latter part of his speech, 'will you reward the man who has sought to withhold power from you or the man who has struggled to give it to you? When you enter your booth to vote what then will you do?'

"They say I abuse people. I've never said an unkind word of any one. He accused his opponent of saying very bitter things against him, in regard to his disapproval of placing Lee's statue in Washington."

Montague said: "As a matter of taste and as a matter of sentiment, he refrained from doing so. It was not a question of governmental virtue or of law." The fact that the statue was in Washington would in no sense have enhanced its fame, he said.

Shoring tribute to General Hinton, as the hero of Balls Bluff, a warrior, at Gettysburg, as a statesman and a self-sacrificing, honorable, true-hearted man. Concluding, he said "I need not say I endorse a vote of confidence and endorsement from the people of Fauquier."

A MARTIN DAY. Governor Montague May Not Keep Appointment.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROCKY MOUNT, VA., July 26.—It is understood from a reliable source that Governor Montague will not come to Rocky Mount after an explanation of the circumstances have been made to him. MANN IN LANCASTER. Is Given An Enthusiastic Hearing at Wheaton.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WHEATON, VA., July 26.—About one hundred persons, one-half which were ladies, heard Judge W. H. Mann speak at Wheaton, Lancaster county, to-day, at eleven thirty o'clock.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. R. C. Norrie, Jr., the county chairman, and an ardent supporter of the Judge in his candidacy for the gubernatorial chair. The distinguished speaker was never in better trim and made so eloquent a speech to his hearers for support. His speech was the same line as delivered throughout the State.

It was enthusiastically received, and what the cause lacked in numbers was made up in enthusiasm. Judge Mann spoke at Whitestone to-night.

Work will commence at once, as the amount on hand with proceeds from a lawn party, will give them a good start, and with proper management a church will soon be built.

The need of a church and neither denominations felt able to build a church by themselves, hence an understanding was reached by meetings called with results as above.

Republicans and Democrats of Bath County in Meeting.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WARM SULPHUR SPRINGS, VA., July 26.—Bath Circuit Court adjourned yesterday after a session of four days. Floyd Fagans, colored, for the murder of Jim Omble last December, was sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary.

An amusing incident transpired during the trial of Fagans. One Mary Ross stated a time of eight minutes between cursing she heard and the fatal shot. The cross-examination made, her say that it could have been twenty minutes. When lawyers for both sides were through Judge George K. Anderson thought to test Mary's idea of time by this suggestion:

"Mary, suppose I am the man doing the cursing. Now, I want you to take note and tell me when the shot was fired."

Sheance relapsed for perhaps thirty seconds, when the aforesaid Mary spoke forth and said:

"Judge, when you twine commences cursing."

It was then that spectators, lawyers, judge and all enjoyed a hearty laugh. The Republicans of Bath county held a mass meeting here during court and elected delegates to the Roanoke convention for August 8th, and instructed for Judge L. L. Lewis for Governor.
